A revival is in progress at Pilot Knob, under the leadership of Rev. W. T. Tyler and Dr. Hull.

The ground hog as a weather prophet "don't go" in these parts any more. He has proven a failure.

Just a few celebrated the glorious 4th of March, by looking too long on the wine when it was red.

No information seems to be at hand as to whether there will be any work done at the Knob this year or not.

The preliminary examination of Underwood, charged with murder, has been deferred ten days, at his request.

Mr. Jas. C. Smith, the horseman at Caledonia, has an advertisement in the REGISTER. Read it and profit thereby.

There were several wrecks on the Arkansas division last week, and trains were considerably delayed up here in consequence.

Our old friend, W. A. Ryan says the REGISTER leads them all. It comes out a day ahead of time and has the news of all the world.

A talkative kid nipped a horse trade in the bud in the north end Tuesday morning. A lot of strong English followed, but no blood split.

The legislature has plenty of time to instruct Congress on National affairs, but it hasn't yet passed a good road law. Let them attend to matters at home first.

We learn that the Syenite Granite Company has secured a number of contracts, among them a very large one—the building of the new Custom House in Kansas City.

The REGISTER Job Office is prepared to furnish stock men horse and jack bills on short notice, at reasonable rates. Insure as good work as can be done anywhere.

There were no services in St. Paul's church last Sunday, owing to the absence of Rev. Dr. James in Kansas City, where he was called to attend the wedding of his daughter.

The case of State against J. B. Brooks on the charge of assault, Wm. Belcher, prosecuting witness was tried before Justice Ake last Friday. The jury returned a verdict for the defendant.

Mr. Geo. Saxton, the traveling man who makes most of the inland towns with a team of his own, has rented one of Capt. Zwart's houses, and will make Ironton his home in the future.

Giovanoni's saloon came very near being destroyed by fire last Saturday morning. A fire took fire and the heat was igniting the wood-work; it was only by supreme effort that the fire was extinguished and further damage prevented.

Prof. A. P. Vance this week announces as a candidate for re-election to the office of County School Commissioner. Prof. Vance's splendid record in this office in the past is well known and he will doubtless be re-elected without opposition.

Considerable valuable correspondence is unavoidably crowded out of this issue, and such as appears has had to be cut down, owing to the demand of the financial statement for space. Our good friends we feel sure will be patient with us under the circumstances.

County Commissioner Vance takes this method of informing the district clerks, that the blanks for the ensuing year have been mailed to every district. Should they not be promptly received, the clerks are requested to at once make requisition for another supply.

The first anniversary services of the Y. P. S. C. E. of Ironton, will be held at the Presbyterian Church next Tuesday evening, March 14th, beginning at 7 o'clock. A special program has been prepared and Rev. R. W. Mason, of De Soto will address the Society. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

The inauguration had hardly occurred last Saturday before Mr. Cleveland's picture graced the walls of the Ironton post-office in lieu of the lithograph of Benjamin that has now been "turned to the wall." We congratulate our postmaster on his public spiritedness.

The probabilities are that Fredericktown will be the first place in Southeast Missouri to get a Democratic postmaster. The last appointee to that place, R. Albert, under the Harrison regime was not confirmed by the Senate, and he only holds until his successor can be named and qualified.

Walter Stocking, postmaster at Caledonia, met with a fatal accident on the night of February 23d. Mr. S. was awakened by the building being on fire and in an effort to jump from the second story to the ground in order to save some of the money and stamps in the office, sustained injuries from which she shortly died.

Mrs. A. Grandhomme and Mr. L. J. Giovanoni desire us to return their sincere thanks to the many good citizens who worked so industriously to save their property from destruction by fire, on Saturday morning last. Had it not been for their prompt and willing services, the building would most assuredly have been destroyed.

H. B. Jones yesterday purchased Wm. Hill's livery stable and will in future conduct the business at the old stand on South Main street. Mr. Jones intends to make many improvements and hopes by good service and close attention to business, to secure a fair share of the public patronage. Mr. Hill has not yet decided what business he will engage in.

Read the advertisement in this paper of a large sale of horses at the Anchor Ranch, Mine la Motte, Madison county, Mo., on Friday of this week. This promises to be one of the most extensive stock sales ever held in this section of the State, and some animals of most excellent breed will be disposed of. Stockmen, this is a chance of a life time. Attend, and see what you can do. It will pay you well.

One of the most marked changes of weather during the entire winter, occurred last week. Thursday the air was balmy and just like spring, that evening rain commenced to fall, the thermometer went down towards morning, and all day Friday there was a raging snow storm. The ground was covered several inches, and the night was bitter cold. The thaw began Saturday, moderation continued, and warm sunshine and sunny skies are once more at hand.

Of course a human can not be infallible, and mistakes and oversights will occur in the best regulated families. But there is one thing we can't understand: why the mail clerks carry the Republic by here three times to where they do the Globe-Democrat once, and it generally happens that the Republic is almost certain to be carried past on the day after some big Democratic demonstration when the paper is full of news that is as bitterness and gall to the Republican mail clerk. Our Republic containing a full account of the inauguration were not thrown off the train last Sunday, but the Globe-Democrat was right on time.

Last Thursday's St. Louis papers stated that one John Timlin had the day before been taken in charge by the police, and placed in custody; it seems he was around the Union depot, drunk, and acting in a strange manner, insisting on being champagne for everybody he chanced to meet. When arrested, he had about $200 on his person, a ticket to Washington and declared his intention of attending the inauguration. He was sent to the asylum at Fulton next day. Timlin is a resident of this county, and was but lately released from the asylum. When sober he is rational enough, but drink soon befogs his mind and brings insanity.

DIED—At St. John's Hospital, St. Louis, Mo., on Sunday, March 5, 1893, at 2:50 o'clock P. M., Mrs. LOUISA SCHWAB, wife of John Schwab, Jr., aged 47 years, 11 months and 5 days. The deceased had been in ill health for some time past, and about ten days ago was taken to St. Louis for treatment. She grew no better, however, and the middle of last week Mr. Schwab was summoned to her bed by telegram. From that time the sufferer gradually weakened and the end came peacefully Sunday, Mr. Schwab and daughter, Miss Louisa, being present. Mrs. Schwab was a model wife and mother in every respect, and the family have the sympathy of a legion of friends in their dark hour of sorrow and suffering. The funeral occurs from the residence, west of Shepherd Mountain, today at 2 o'clock.

There is a genius in the Valley, of whose being here but few have appreciative knowledge, as the following, taken from the columns of the St. Louis Chronicle, will put beyond peradventure: "The discussion of St. Louis' present drinking water supply reminds me of another way of obtaining a supply for the city which I heard mentioned here. Dr. J. H. Mumma, at present living here, claims to know how an abundance of good, cold, clear water for the whole city, even if it grows ten times as large, can be obtained with very little cost. He says that if the city authorities would promise him $150,000, payable only if his assertions prove to be the truth, but with a preliminary cost of about $300 to $500, of which sum he would not get a red cent, he would uncover the hidden body of water to the City of St. Louis by his knowledge.

"Now, I believe Dr. Mumma's assertions are not exactly a humbug as many perhaps think. I will prove this. The hotel at Arcadia, Mo., had in its yard no water except that from a poor cistern and the belief of everybody was that no water could be found in that yard. Dr. Mumma, by what knowledge or power is his own business, located water in the yard and agreed to furnish three feet of water on a certain spot for $25. The proprietor wanted the water, not on the spot where the Doctor located it, but under a certain shade tree he pointed out. After examination the Doctor said that water could be had there, too, but under very unfavorable circumstances.

"After having worked with two men ten days and having gone about twenty feet down through hard ground and rock, the belief was that no water could be found. An old colored prophet's prophecy must have been taken possession of the mind of the proprietor, and he tried to stop the work through the Sheriff. Even though he was not willing to pay the expenses the Doctor sent him home with the assurance that he would furnish even at this place three feet of water, and then would collect his bill. With six feet more blasting through the hardest of rock the water did come, and exactly to the height as promised—three and one-half feet—considering our hot and very dry summer, when several wells had ceased to give water at all. To locate water on a certain spot, to spend about $200 out of his own pocket for blasting in the hardest rock, and then making good his promise to furnish three feet of water in the driest time of season, should convince everybody that his knowledge and promise should be considered.

"What a blessing would it be for St. Louis if his assertions were based on the truth, which could be easily ascertained by the trifling expense above named. CHARLES MASCHMEYER. "Pilot Knob, Feb. 28, 1893."

Graniteville Items.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Robt J. Denning, on the 27th inst., a daughter. Also, to Mr. and Mrs. Columbus Shrum a son on Monday last. Mothers and little ones are said to be doing nicely. Frank Hunsick has resigned his position as estimating agent and draftsman for the Syenite Company, to accept one in the same capacity for the Amberg, Wis., Granite Company, and with his family, will leave in a few days for their habitation. Thus does Graniteville society lose a highly esteemed family, a good citizen and kind neighbor, but what is our loss will be Amberg's gain.

Mrs. Chas. Rennie, of whom mention was made in our communication last week, is still improving slowly.

Mrs. Peter Broodie is quite ill. The sore eye epidemic is said to be abating somewhat.

Andrew Sheehan, of the firm of Sheehan Bros., is in St. Louis making arrangements in regard to establishing their trade and looking up a resident location in which to move his family, where they will soon depart.

Mr. Jacob Crouse and son, Master George, of Caryle, Ill., are visiting their son and brother, Charles, here, who is in the post-office department of the Syenite Company's store. They will remain a few days longer.

It may correctly be stated, with especial truthfulness, that the people of Graniteville were treated to an entertainment at Workman's Hall on last Thursday evening as is seldom witnessed in this community, and all the more especially as being performed by amateurs. As evidence of the fact, we will state fairly (though it began raining about the time to open the doors for admittance and continued for a considerable length of time) that every available seat was taken by 7:30 o'clock and standing room was out of the question. The inclement weather, however, did not deter the anxious throng from coming out. The program was a long one, and in this the audience got value received, and say have been heard to remark that some parts of the entertainment alone were well worth the price of admission, to which reflects great credit to the committee having the matter in charge.

Rheumatism Quickly Cured.

Three days is a very short time in which to cure a bad case of rheumatism; but it can be done, if the proper treatment is adopted, as will be seen by the following from James Lambert, of New Brunswick, Ill.: "I was badly afflicted with rheumatism in the hips and legs, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It cured me in three days. I am all right to-day; and would insist on every one who is afflicted with that terrible disease to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm and get well at once."

Ed. Register.—It has been sometime since I sent in any items from here, but the position I am in prevents me from gathering news rapidly.

The few bright days we are having are encouraging to the farmers in this locality, and some of them have begun to turn the soil for the planting of the spring crops.
